

CRUDE GAME OF BASEBALL

That Northfield Put up Against Italian A. C.

PROFICIENT AT ERRORS

The Locals Simply Swatted the Ball to All Parts of the Campus and Won in a Canter, the Score Being 17 to 4.

In one of the most uninteresting, listless and one-sided games of the season to date the Italian Athletic club defeated an aggregation of ball tossers from Northfield 17 to 4 at the campus last night. The outcome of the contest became apparent in the opening stages, as the locals gained two runs in the first inning and added four more in the very next session with the willow.

The visitors proposed to bring over baseball material enough from the banks of the Dog to give the Italians a hard battle for supremacy. How far their plans were carried out is plainly told by the score. It was one prolonged swat fest whenever the locals took a turn at hitting and the somnolent (perhaps) baseballists from Northfield were kept constantly busy in hunting for the ball after the bases were emptied. Coupled with the weakness of the mound, the visitors also failed to uncover much fielding ability and a basketful of errors aided the Italians in the run-getting.

To attempt any explanation of how the Italians rolled up their majority would mean a simple repetition of long swats, miserable misplays and an all-around lack of knowledge of the game. As the affair progressed it seemed easier to score and toward the end, the locals apparently played indifferently that the game might sooner end. Girardo pitched a good game, but was seldom called upon to uncover anything startling in order to keep his opponents guessing. Rossini, Giacomuzzi and Comelli led in the hitting.

Northfield scored its first tally in the third, when Morris hit safely for two sacks and came in on a bloop, in to left field by Spence. Sylvester made the second run in the next round by hitting safely to right, and scoring later on a passed ball. Two more came in the seventh. Washington drew a pass, stole second and scored on Giacomuzzi's error which also placed Morris on first. The latter stroled home on Spence's clean two-bagger into right. Aside from these three innings, the visitors seldom had a change to duplicate their runs.

Owing, it is said, to a delay on the way, a portion of the visiting team did not reach the field until five o'clock. The game therefore did not start until their arrival and when it ended in the cool of the evening at 7 o'clock, the bleachers presented the usual depleted appearance. The score:

ONE CITIZEN KILLED IN BANDIT ENCOUNTER

Three Bandits Who Fired On Citizens Captured, One of Them Seriously Wounded.

Salt Lake City, May 10.—In a desperate attempt to escape after robbing a pawnshop, three bandits shot and killed a citizen and wounded another in the business center of the city late yesterday. One of the robbers was shot in the head and the other two were captured.

WOMEN ON THE WARPATH.

Large Force Starts from New York City to Storm the State Capitol.

New York, May 10.—Four battalions of suffragettes mobilized at the Grand Central station here yesterday for an attack on the legislature at Albany. They represent the woman suffrage party, the state association, the woman's political union and the Collegiate Equal Suffrage league. Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch commanding, and their plan is on arriving at Albany to descend on the judiciary committee of both houses with the resolution adopted after the suffrage parade last Saturday, to "face the responsibility for blocking the legitimate aspirations of the women of the state."

Albany, N. Y., May 10.—A little band of thirty-two women suffragettes, with banners and pennants flying, stormed Capital hill yesterday in an effort to induce the judiciary committee of the legislature to report the suffrage bills. The women waited outside the assembly chamber until permitted to enter by Speaker Frisbie, minus the banners, which were left in the lobby.

MEDICAL TESTIMONY.

It Seems in a Measure to Corroborate Abbatemaggio.

Viterbo, Italy, May 10.—Gennaro Abbatemaggio, the informer, who has experienced a trying ordeal in confronting for several days those whom he accused as principals in the murder of Genaro Cuocolo and his wife, is ill and was unable to appear when the trial of the Camorristas was resumed today. In his absence the morning session was taken up with a reading of the opinions of medical experts, who examined the bodies of the murdered ones.

The experts found 47 wounds on the body of Cuocolo and 13 on that of his wife. Death was due to dagger thrusts, delivered in such a manner as to leave triangular scars. Abbatemaggio testified that the greater number of the knife blows were inflicted by Sorrado Sortino. The physicians expressed the opinion that if this were true, Sortino's clothing need not necessarily have been covered with blood and that he might have gone from the scene of the assassination by train to Naples without attracting particular attention.

This testimony appeared to make a great impression on those in the court room.

BILL TO REGISTER AIR SHIP PASSES

Connecticut Senate Sends Gov. Baldwin's Measure to the House for Concurrence.

Hartford, Ct., May 10.—The Senate yesterday passed the bill which provides for the registration, numbering and use of airships and the licensing of operators thereof, and sent it down to the House for concurrent action. The members of the assembly will be given a practical demonstration of the growth of aviation at Bridgeport this week, and the manner in which it can be controlled under this bill, which is expected to pass the House this week.

FREE LIST BILL DEAD

Senate Sure to Reject the Resolution

A RIDER ON RECIPROCITY

Republican Support Necessary for Passage—The Democrats Expect an Agreement on Wool Schedules.

Washington, May 10.—A vote in the Senate on the Democratic farmers' free list bill, which passed the House Monday, can hardly be avoided, even though it is the avowed purpose of a majority of the finance committee to pigeon-hole it. President Taft's insistence is practically certain to bring the Canadian reciprocity bill before the Senate, and the Democrats are expected to move to amend it by attaching the farmers' free list as a rider, thus forcing a record vote. This course is satisfactory to the Republican progressives, who are not enamored of the Democratic plan because of its proposed free trade in meat products and they will vote against it. The bill cannot pass without Republican support, hence it may be regarded now as dead. The progressives will have less hesitancy in supporting the bill reducing the cotton and wool duties, as no textile mills are found on the plains of Iowa and Kansas and only the New England ox is gored.

DEMOCRATS UNITE ON WOOL PLAN.

Satisfactory Schedules Expected from the House Committee.

Despite the intimations that the Democrats may report a free wool bill and Chairman Underwood and the speaker be thus rebuked, they were never more confident of a harmonious woolen bill than yesterday. "When the schedule is reported out and agreed on by the caucus," said Mr. Underwood yesterday, "I believe it will have the support almost solidly and perhaps without exception, of the majority." The Democrats generally showed signs of coalition yesterday. Their performance of Monday in backing solidly the farmers' free list bill and voting down Republican amendments, however tempting, without a break, make them the more anxious yesterday to repeat the performance on other tariff schedules. "We shall reach a satisfactory adjustment of schedule K," was the general Democratic belief yesterday.

HOW STANDS MASSACHUSETTS?

Master Gardener of State Grange Says People Generally Oppose Reciprocity.

Massachusetts farmers, merchants and business men generally are opposed to Canadian reciprocity according to the latest and confident statement of Charles M. Gardner, master of the state grange, before the Senate finance committee. Senator Bailey challenged this statement by inquiring how it was, if that were the case, the Bay state had just elected a Democratic governor on the issue of reciprocity and a United States senator who would vote for it, but Mr. Gardner side-stepped this inquiry with the explanation that Governor Foss "made his campaign on a great variety of issues." Referring to his statement at a former hearing that he believed the Massachusetts farmers as a body were opposed to the agreement, Mr. Gardner said he now knew this to be the case, from the expressions that had come to him. The milk business was seriously threatened, he said, and ratification would end prosperity for the apple raisers and the producers of hay.

"Five hundred young farmers," said Mr. Gardner, "are preparing to return to the farms from our agricultural college, relying on the continuance of conditions that have prevailed in the past. We in Massachusetts will be a distinct blow to the prospects of these young farmers. The possibility of its ratification has already brought about a stoppage of proposed improvements on farms throughout the state, and negotiations for the transfer of our farm lands have been brought to an abrupt conclusion."

"Not only are the farmers opposed to this agreement, but the business men and merchants in the cities, whose prosperity is dependent upon that of the farmers, are against ratification. We are here to voice her convictions against the agreement, and to ask for a square deal. If the agreement is ratified then we will be forced to try something else. If we are forced to sell on a free list we must be given an opportunity to buy on a free basis. And we will be forced to try some other method than simple appeal if this agreement is ratified."

To-day a delegation from the Home Market club representing in part the Gloucester fish interests will be heard.

IN BOSTON MARKETS.

Butter Firm and Supply Small, Egg Receipts Large, with Good Demand.

Boston, May 10.—Butter holds very firm in the local market, with supplies barely sufficient for wants. But little stock was carried over from last week and yesterday's arrivals were small. There is a good deal of butter in cold storage, but the best of it is not available at current prices. The cheese market holds steady; wants are not very large, but supplies are well used up and there is little effort to create business at the expense of prices. New cheese is higher in the country than it was last week. Egg receipts are large, but the demand is good and prices hold steady at the recent level.

A Record-Breaking Holstein Cow.

Frederick L. Houghton of Brattleboro, Vt., secretary of the Holstein-Friesian association of America, reports that the Pontiac Clothilde DeKol, 2d, a Holstein-Friesian cow owned by the Stevens Bros. company, Liverpool, N. Y., has broken all records for butter fat production for periods and 7 and 30 days. This wonderful cow, tested under the supervision of Cornell university, produced in seven consecutive days 646.1 pounds of milk containing 29,760 pounds of fat, and in 30 days 2,588.4 pounds of milk containing 118,229 pounds of fat, the amount of fat for the week being 1-3 pounds in excess of anything before known. Cornell university estimates that the fat produced is equal to 34.73 pounds of the best commercial butter for the week and 135.6 for the 30 days.

WAS LAST OF THE ABOLITIONISTS

Thomas Wentworth Higginson Passes Away at Cambridge—Had a Notable Career.

Cambridge, Mass., May 10.—Colonel Thomas Wentworth Higginson, historian and author, minister and soldier, one of the last of the group of half a century ago, died at his home here last night.

Thomas Wentworth Higginson, author, preacher and soldier, was born in Cambridge, Mass., December 22, 1825. He was a son of Stephen and Louise Storow Higginson and a direct descendant of Rev. Francis Higginson, who in 1629 became the first minister in Salem. The house of young Higginson's parents and that of his aunt, Mrs. Channing, were centers of refinement and literary interest in the old college town which, at that time, had less than 3,000 inhabitants. He entered Harvard at the early age of 14 and was one of the 305 boys then in the college. He graduated in 1849 and soon after entered the church.

When the Civil war broke out Higginson joined a Massachusetts regiment.

Later he was made colonel of the Third United States troops, the first negro regiment mustered in the Union service and composed of South Carolina negroes.

After his retirement from the army, Higginson went to Newport, R. I., where he devoted himself to literary pursuits.

There he produced two or three of his most charming books and an exquisite translation of Tolstoy, which has gone through several editions. In 1878 he returned to his birthplace, Cambridge, and made his home at No. 29 Buckingham street, right under the shadow of Harvard university, the beloved alma mater.
